Property values across the community are changing rapidly. We approached the architecture and design of the building with the intent of creating a unique, modern design that would positively impact the surrounding community. Integral Care is committed to keeping Terrace at Oak Springs well maintained and being a good neighbor.

How will Terrace at Oak Springs impact public resources?

In addition to providing housing for 50 individuals experiencing chronic homelessness, Terrace at Oak Springs will also save our community a considerable amount of public resources. People living on the streets who have conditions such as a mental illness, substance use disorder and chronic health conditions often use crisis and emergency services because they lack a regular source of care. This is expensive for the community. Providing housing and rehabilitation supports offers the opportunity to create long-term stability and better health and is more cost effective due to decreased utilization of health services such as EMS transport and hospital stays. In an analysis of individuals supported by Integral Care, we've seen a reduction of utilization in EMS transports, Austin Police Department response, emergency department visits, inpatient hospitalizations and psychiatric hospitalizations.

Integral Care uses the Housing First model to remove barriers, creating opportunities for individuals to move from homelessness to housing. Integral Care has been providing housing services in our community since the 1980s and adopted the Housing First model in the last decade.

We updated our name in 2017 to make it easier for people to find the care they need and reduce confusion with other public organizations.
