MEET OUR PRESENTERS

Amiee Kellogg is the current Autism Workforce Development Coordinator with Autism Society of Texas, a program lead in public secondary schools supervising a program designed for students on the autism spectrum, a campus-based vocational adjustment specialist, a mobile crisis outreach specialist, a behavioral health case manager, and a crisis hotline QMHP. Her master's degree is in special education

Jordan Fogle serves as the Projects Coordinator at Autism Society of Texas, primarily assisting with the design and facilitation of the organization's adult social groups and pre-employment program. Seeking to bridge his interests in successful inclusion practices, pedagogy, and musical healing, he recently obtained an M.M. in Music and Human Learning from the University of Texas at Austin.

Jordan Smelley is a certified Peer Recovery Support Specialist with Young Peer Mentor Endorsement here in Texas. Jordan uses his lived experience with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities with Co-Occurring Mental Health Diagnosis(es) due to Chung-Jansen Syndrome to support and provide resources to others.

Yasmine Mavrakis is a Registered and Licensed Dietitian Nutritionist, who currently provides services to individuals with psychiatric disorders including IDD. As a bilingual/bicultural Latina dietitian, Yasmine is able to provide insights across diverse cultures and identities.

Dr. Feinstein is currently Professor of Psychiatry at Dell Medical School, Associate Chair of Education. He is the Medical Director of Special Projects to Integral Care. He is an psychiatric consultant, expert teacher, supervisor, mentor, and researcher with more than 30 years of experience in community care and higher education.

Chad Burns holds a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology from Austin College and a Master of Education in Special Education: Autism/Applied Behavior Analysis Concentration from Texas State University. He is a Board Certified Behavior Analyst® (BCBA®) and a Licensed Behavior Analyst with the state of Texas.
